BOMBAY HIGH COURT ACHIEVES 'Choropleth' Maps
based on NJDG Data.

The High Court of Bombay has developed a facility to generate GIS-based 'Choropleth' Maps (Annexure 'A').

A 'Choropleth' is a colour visual mapping system based on district or area wise statistical data.

The National Judicial Data Grid (NJDG) is repository of all kinds of statistical data relating to institution, pendency and disposal of cases in District and Taluka Courts in Maharashtra. Choropleth maps are generated from this data to show statistical distribution trends in a colour-graded visual manner.

These Maps help the High Court administration to rapidly take data-driven policy decisions.

Some sample Choropleth maps already generated are attached.
